INTRODUCTION AND GENERAL INDEX

HILL DIRECTORY CO., Inc., publishers of South-eastern Directories, present to subscribers and the general public, this, the 1959 edition of the Laurinburg City Directory, which also includes East Laurinburg and the rural routes emanating from the Laurinburg Post Office.

This is the first Hill Directory of Laurinburg, and is completely standardized according to the policies and practices of the Association of North American Directory Publishers.

Confidence in the growth of Laurinburg's industry, population and wealth, and in the advancement of its civic and social activities, will be maintained as sections of this Directory are consulted, for the Directory is a mirror truly reflecting Laurinburg to the world.

The enviable position occupied by HILL'S Directories in the estimation of the public, has been established by rendering the best in Directory service. With an unrivaled organization, and having had the courteous and hearty cooperation of the business and professional men and residents, the publishers feel that the result of their labors will meet with the approval of every user, and the Laurinburg Directory will fulfill its mission as a source of authentic information pertaining to the community.

Five Major Departments

The five major departments are arranged in the following order:—

I. THE YELLOW PAGES constitute the first major department of the Directory. This embraces a complete list of the names and addresses of the business and professional concerns of the city and vicinity, arranged in alphabetical order under appropriate headings—a catalog of all the activities of the city and vicinity. Preceding this catalog, likewise grouped under appropriate headings, are the advertisements and business cards of firms and individuals desiring to present a more complete list of their products or services than is possible in the catalog itself. The Yellow Pages represent reference advertising at its best, and merit the attention of all buyers and sellers seeking sources of supply or market for goods. In a progressive community like Laurinburg, the necessity of having this kind of information up-to-date and always immediately available, is obvious. The Directory is the common intermediary between buyer and seller, and plays an important role in the daily activities of the commercial, industrial and professional world.

II. THE ALPHABETICAL LIST OF NAMES of

residents and business and professional concerns is the second major department, printed on white paper. This is the only record in existence that aims to show the name, marital status, occupation and address of each adult resident of Laurinburg and East Laurinburg, and the name, official personnel, nature and address of each firm and corporation in the community.

III. THE DIRECTORY OF HOUSEHOLDERS, INCLUDING STREET AND AVENUE GUIDE, is the third major department, printed on green paper. In this section the numbered streets are arranged in numerical order, followed by the named streets in alphabetical order; the numbers of the residences and business concerns are arranged in numerical order under the name of each street, and the names of the householders and concerns are placed opposite the numbers. The names of the intersecting streets appear at their respective crossing points on each street. Special features of this section are the designation of tenant-owned homes and the listing of telephone numbers.

IV. THE NUMERICAL TELEPHONE DIRECTORY, on blue paper, is the fourth major department.

V. THE LAURINBURG RURAL ROUTES DIRECTORY is the fifth major department, printed on white paper.

Community Publicity

The Directory reflects the achievements and ambitions of the community, depicting in unbiased terms what it has to offer as a place of residence, as a business location, as a manufacturing site and as an educational center. To broadcast this information, the publishers have placed copies of this issue of the Directory in Directory Libraries, where they are readily available for free public reference, and serve as perpetual and reliable advertisements of Laurinburg and vicinity.

There are more than 700 of these Directory Libraries, installed and maintained in the chief cities of the U. S. and Canada through the courtesy of members of the Association of North American Directory Publishers, under whose supervision the system is operated and of which Hill Directory Co., Inc., is a member.

The publishers appreciatively acknowledge the recognition by those progressive business and professional men who have demonstrated their confidence in the City Directory as an advertising medium, with assurance that it will bring a commensurate return.

LAURINBURG, NORTH CAROLINA

Laurinburg, the county seat of Scotland County, is located in the extreme south-central portion of North Carolina. It has a population of 8,500 persons, and is located within 100 miles of such major population centers as Charlotte, Raleigh, Greensboro and Wilmington.

The economy of Laurinburg and Scotland County is a well defined balance between industry and agriculture. Textile mills, located throughout the county, comprise the major industry, while cotton, tobacco, corn soybeans, small grain and truck crops are the principal agricultural products. Economic progress over the past 20 years is well illustrated in the steadily climbing retail and wholesale trade, employment and wage statistics.

KENT TRADING COMPANY

For industrial locators, the Laurinburg area offers a wide choice of level, well-drained terrain with abundant surface and underground water resources. The area is served by major north-south and east-west highways, plus a well maintained network of secondary roads. Three railroads and a number of motor freight carriers operate into Laurinburg and the county.

There is adequate bus service to all points, and major airlines operate full schedules from points within one to two hours drive. Excellent private airport facilities are maintained at Laurinburg-Maxton Air Base.

Laurinburg, which earned a LOOK Magazine All-America City Award in 1956 for civic improvements, is the home of Consolidated Presbyterian College, a four-year liberal arts school, which will open its doors in 1960.

HISTORY OF SCOTLAND COUNTY

Early History of the Forming of Scotland Comnty From Richmond:

Some important facts regarding Richmond County, from which Scotland was formed in 1899, are necessary for a proper background.

Up to 1729, the State of North Carolina was composed of only three counties: Albemarle, Bath and Clarendon. New Hanover was created in that year. Bladen was sliced from Hanover in 1734; Anson taken from Balden in 1749; Mecklenburg was formed from Anson in 1762, and finally in 1799 Richmond was carved out of that portion of Anson that lay east of the Pee Dee River. South Carolina formed the southern boundry, Moore and Robeson Counties the eastern, Montgomery County the northern, while the great Pee Dee River formed the western boundry. The newly formed county contained 848 square miles and was named Richmond in honor of Charles Lenox, Duke of Richmond, an able advocate of the cause of America in the House of Lords, in the English Parliament.

In 1899 many prominent citizens of eastern Richmond County petitioned the General Assembly to divide the county. The request was finally granted, and the County of Scotland was formed on February 20, 1899, by the following Act:

• "AN ACT TO ESTABLISH AND PROVIDE FOR THE ORGANIZATION OF THE COUNTY OF SCOTLAND FROM THE TERRITORY OF RICHMOND." THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY DO ENACT:

SECTION 1. That a county by the name of Scotland be and the same is hereby created and established out of and embracing Laurel Hill, Spring Hill, Stewartsville and Williamson Townships in Richmond County, the whole to lie within and have the following specified bounds; that is to say: BEGINNING at a point in a line between the states of North and South Carolina, where the County of Robeson and the County of Richmond in the state of North Carolina converge on said state line, thence in a northerly direction with the line between the counties of Richmond and Robeson in the state of North Carolina to Cumberland County; thence with the line between Richmond and Cumberland counties to Moore County; thence with the line between Moore and Richmond Counties to the line between Beaver Dam and Spring Hill Townships in Richmond County; thence with the line between the Townships of Beaver Dam, Rockingham and Marks Creek Townships in Richmond County, and being the line dividing said Townships of Spring Hill, Laurel Hill, and Williamson's in the said County of Scotland to the line between the states of North Carolina and South Carolina; thence with said state line to the beginning . . .

SECTION 3 of the foregoing act named Peter McRae and W. H. McLaurin of Scotland, as commissioners to meet with Commissioners of Richmond and Robeson Counties during the year 1900 and to survey and mark the boundries as designated in the act creating Scotland County. The same act also provided that Laurinburg be the county seat and that the county commissioners should select a site for a jail within a mile of the center of town.

The county began to function in December, 1900. The first court was held in a rented building. In 1901, however, a brick court house was built and this building is being used today. The wills and deeds books are dated as of December 1900.

Scotland County, with an area of only 205,440 acres or 321 square miles is one of the smallest counties in the state. It has a very irregular outline—the western, northwestern, northern and north eastern boundaries following the courses of streams or roads. The maximum length of the county is about 28 miles, while its width varies from 13 to 21 miles. It is bounded on the north by Richmond and Hoke Counties, and Lumber River (or Drowning Creek); on the east by Hoke and Robeson Counties, and Lumber Counties; on the south by Marlboro County, South Carolina and on the west by Richmond County.

This county is divided into two distinct physiographic divisions. A line drawn from the county line two miles northeast of Gibson and extending in a general northeast direction across the county to a point on the line about two miles north of Wagram would separate these sections. The county north of this, about one-third of the total area of Scotland County, is locally known as the "Sandhills".

The sharp definition of this area has led geologists to speculate that the area was once the shore of a huge inland sea, and frequent pits or depressions in the land have also lent credence to the theory that the entire area was once showered by meteors.

SCOTLAND COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA

The section south of the Sandhill line is known as the "Flatwoods." The topography of the latter section is level, although basin-like depressions representing old lake beds occur frequently. In passing from the "Flatwoods" section to the "Sandhills" there is an abrupt rise in elevation of six to eight feet and the surface becomes hilly. With the exception of Lumber River, Joe's Creek, and Bridge Creek, the regional drainage of the county is accomplished by streams having their sources in the Sandhill section. Gum Swamp, Juniper, Jordan's, Big Shoe Heel and Little Shoe Heel, creeks all rise in the Sandhills and flow south, either emptying into the Lumber River or the Pee Dee River. Formerly there were many dirt dams on these streams, forming ponds, which furnished water power to run mill of various kinds, and few of these are still operated.

During most of the year Scotland County affords a very delightful climate, the winters are mild and short, while the summers are long and hot. Snows are not infrequent in winter, but they are usually light and last only a short time. The average temperature is 48 degrees Fahrenheit in the winter, while the summer average is 76.5. The rainfall is somewhat evenly distributed throughout the year, the average rainfall being 50 inches. Elevation is 220 feet above the sea level.

Scotch Settlers

The early settlers in Scotland County were largely composed of Highland Scotch emigrants from Skye, Argyleshire, Isley, Coll and other western isles of Scotland. This fact is well established by most writers of Scottish history and by the names, records and testimonies of prominent citizens of the county today. It is uncertain just when these emigrants first entered this territory, but it is agreed that many Highlanders were living here as early as 1729, at the time of the separation of the province into North and South Carolina.

Perhaps the following excerpt from the most authoritative book on the "Highlanders in America" (McLean) will confirm this belief.

"The earliest, largest, and most important settlement of Highlanders in America prior to the peace of 1783 was in North Carolina, along the Cape Fear River, about 100 miles from the mouth and in what was then Bladen, but is now Cumberland County. The time when the Highlanders began to occupy this territory is not definitely known; but some were located there in 1729, at the time of the separation of the province into North and South Carolina. (P. 102)"

While it is quite probable that a few Highlanders had pushed farther westward and settled the territory now known as Scotland County by 1729, there are many facts to prove that most of them took up residence here during the next quarter century.

Gabriel Johnson, himself a Scotman, became Governor of the province of North Carolina in 1734 and was very friendly to the Highlander's cause. During his administration in 1740, Dugal McNeill and McAllister presented a petition in behalf of the Highlanders' stating:

"If proper encouragement be given them, that they'll invite the rest of their friends and acquaintances over." Accordingly, the House of Commons passed a resolution appropriating 1000 Pounds for new settler's subsistence and exempting them from taxation for the next ten years; providing as many as forty would come in each company. But the House of Commons deferred action on this resolution until the next assembly, and so the act was never passed.

Another factor that encouraged many Highland Scotch to settle in the Cape Fear region was the report of Neal McNeal, one of the earliest of the Scotch settlers, who went back to his native land in 1739, carrying the glad news of the good land in the New World. He told of the fertile soil and how one could actually own the land which he tilled. When he returned, he brought a shipload of 350 Highlanders with him. Soon thereafter, Highlanders in great numbers poured into America, clustering in Nova Scotia, New York, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, and as far south as Georgia. It was during this period that the Scotland County area became thickly settled. As one historian (Connor) puts it: "Shipload after shipload of sturdy Highlander settlers reached the shores of America, and most of them landing at Charleston and Wilmington, found their way to their kinsman on the Cape Fear. Here in a few years their settlements were thickly scattered throughout the territory now embraced in the Counties of Anson, Bladen, Cumberland, Harnett, Moore, Richmond, Robeson, Sampson, Scotland and Hoke (p. 55)".

There is a legend to the effect that when the Scotch emigrants were nosing into the Cape Fear River at Wilmington and pushing their way up country, some one posted a sign which read, "The best land lies 100 miles west of here." The story goes on to say that most of those who could read came on to what is now Scotland County.

Finally, after the battle of Culloden, in 1746, the harsh treatment by the British Parliament and the bitter oath of loyalty required of all Highlanders, many more took up their abode in Cape Fear section, pushing out gradually in large numbers westward into Richmond and the territory that was later to become Scotland County. This wholesale exodus of Highlanders is also described graphically by another American historian, J. P. McLean of Ohio, in his "Highlanders In America."

Hence, during the years 1746 and 1747, great numbers of Highlanders with families and families of their friends removed to North Carolina and settled along the Cape Fear River, covering a great space of the country, of which Cross Creek, later Campbelton, now Fayetteville, was the common center. This region received shipload after shipload of harassed, down-trodden and maligned people. The emigration, forced by royal persecution and authority, was carried on by those who desired to improve their condition by owning the land the tilled. (P. 107)."

There are some interesting bits of Scottish History connected with Richmond County and the celebrated heroine, Flora MacDonald. Because of pecuniary embarrassment, Flora MacDonald and her husband, Alan MacDonald, were forced to leave Scotland. In 1775 they landed at Wilmington and settled at Cross Creek, now Fayetteville. A fire destroyed their Fayetteville home, and they moved to Cameron's Hill, twenty miles above Fayetteville, in Cumberland County, but remained only a short while, moving to that section of Anson County which is now Richmond County. While residing at this place, Donald MacDonald, a relative of Flora's was commissioned as General in the service of his Majesty, George III. In February, 1776, General MacDonald issued a proclamation calling on all loyal Highlanders to join his standard at Cross Creek. The husband of Flora was one of the first of 1500 Scots to respond to the call, and tradition says that Flora accompanied her husband to Cross Creek and by her personal animation and enthusiasm inspired the men to make a valiant, though disastrous, stand for their King at Moore's Creek Bridge.

During her husband's absence Flora remained at home among the wooded hills of upper Richmond County. It is not definitely established, however, that the two MacDonald children, who died of Typhoid Fever were buried some 17 miles north of Rockingham and whose remains were lately re-interred on the campus of Flora MacDonald College, Red Springs, were Flora's offspring. Most certainly, however, they were a close relation.

From the foregoing facts, however, one must not conclude that the entire early population of Scotland County were Highland Scotch and of pure Celtic strains. In the latter part of the eighteenth century, some Teutonic strains, English and lowland Scotch, and a small number of Welsh came by the way of Pee Dee River, and in later colonial times great numbers of Scotch-Irish from Ulster found lodgement upon the headwaters of Cape Fear and Pee Dee Rivers.

The white population of Scotland County today is largely made up of descendants of this early stock, with an uncommonly small percentage of foreigners. However, 50 percent or more of the entire population are negroes, most of whom descended from the early slaves brought into this country to tend the large cotton plantations. When the county was formed in 1900 the total population was 12,553. The 1950 census gives a population of 26,286.

In 1900 when Scotland County first began to function, W. D. McLaurin was elected Sheriff and served in this capacity until his death in 1924. Charlie E. Muse was the first Deputy Sheriff serving from the summer of 1901-1903 when he resigned. Later in Dec. 1906 he became Deputy Register of Deeds under John D. McDonald, who resigned in Dec. 1909 because of ill health, and Charlie E. Muse was appointed Register of Deeds. This office he held until death in February, 1946. F. B. Gibson, J. A. McKay, and Rod McRae were the first County Commissioners, Hampton H. Covington, Clerk of Court, Gilbert H. Russell, first Register of Deeds, and W. D. Quakenbush, F. P. Wyche, and A. F. Patterson comprised the Board of Education. Maxcy L. John was the first Superintendent of Public Education. In 1900, Hector McLean was elected the first representative to the General Assembly, while the second representative was the poet, John Charles McNeill, elected in 1903. Hector McLean was the first State Senator from the county, serving in 1905.

The earliest community developed in the county was around old Laurel Hill Presbyterian Church. This church, organized about 1807 by the Rev. Malcolm McNair, is situated on the Old Wire Road, so called because the Postal Telegraph Company maintained its telegraph wires alongside, and the Mail Stage Coach ran regularly on this road from New York to New Orleans. A dinner house where stageline guests, including Washington, Lafayette, and other notables stopped for rest and refreshments, was maintained, and fresh horses procured for stage travel northward to Fayetteville, Raleigh, Richmond and Washington, and southward to Cheraw, Camden, Columbia, Mobile and New Orleans. The main highway was used by Sherman in his march from Atlanta. A Scotch Fair was an annual event at which home made and home grown products were bartered for up-county wares, and where a whole week was given over to merry making and recreation. One of the first merchants at Old Laurel Hill was James P. McLaurin. With the coming of the railroad, now the Seaboard, the settlement declined in importance and a new Laurel Hill was established a few miles westward on the railway line.

Cities and Towns

Laurinburg, the county seat, and the largest town in the county, is located in the central part, and was incorporated February 12, 1877. It traces its origin as far back as 1785 when the first families settled on the present town site. It was fitting that this town should be the county seat of the new Scotland County because its name was derived from the old Scotch family of McLaurin, tradition ascribing the honor sometimes to one member of the family and sometimes to another. At any rate, the McLaurin family was perhaps the most prominent, both in wealth and influence, of any of the other clans represented in the county. The name of the town was written with an "h" on the end, as in Laurinburgh, and was pronounced as if spelled Laurinboro, as Edinburgh in Scotland is pronounced. The Post Office was first named Laurinburgh, but later the last letter was dropped. As late as 1840, according to the papers of the late N. L. McCormick, there were only three dwellings, a store, a saloon and a few shacks in Laurinburg. The Town's growth from that date was evidently rapid as a high school was established in 1852, and a boarding house and other buildings soon followed. In 1858, plans were announced for a railroad. The first train arrived 1861, just in time to carry a contingent of young men to war. This was the old Wilmington, Charlotte and Rutherfordton Railroad that later became the Carolina Central Line. Growth slowed to a virtual standstill during the Civil War, but picked up again at an accelerated pace after the peace and was incorporated in 1877. The town's growth since that time has been rapid, particularly in the past 20 years and is still growing and improvements noted everywhere. It now has a population of 10,000 or over, with East Laurinburg's population 755.

Schools and Churches

Schools and churches have always had first place in the life of Scotland County people. Laurinburg began with a high school before the War Between the States, later with Prof. William Graham Quakenbush as principal 1879-1900, drew its students from a 50 mile radius and was a great success. He taught many of the section's most prominent men and women—Governor A. W. McLean, Admiral Victor Blue, Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper, the Johns and many others. A monument of the Court House here bearing the following inscription: "Erected by popular subscription to the memory of a private school master." is somewhat unique in monuments. Secretary Roper, before his death, called a reunion in Laurinburg of old Quakenbush boys and girls. An oldtime school master, stern but just, who seldom spared the rod and seldom had a spoiled school child. Today Laurinburg's school system is composed of Laurinburg High School, Central Graded School, East Laurinburg Graded School, all accredited, and Laurinburg Institute, the county's lone negro high school, however, others are under construction.

Churches

The churches and the life that revolves about them are perhaps the strongest pillars in the foundation of Laurinburg. The Presbyterian, Methodist, and Baptist are the largest of the churches with a combined membership of approximately 2500. Also Episcopal, Catholic and Holiness churches, all with sizable memberships are found here.

Laurinburg is the home of the Scotland County Memorial Library erected as a memorial to the sons of the county who served in World War 2. Two large plaques at the entrance of the building bear the name of every boy who served his country in this war. This beautiful building was completed at a cost of over $50,000.00 and dedicated December 12, 1950.

The medical needs are amply taken care of by the Scotland County Memorial Hospital located on McLean

St. This hospital is a large four story building, 100 bed capacity, and is modern in every respect. It was dedicated January 28, 1951, and cost $1,200,000.00. A new and modern Nurse's Home has recently been completed at a cost of $203,000.00 which has not as yet been dedicated.

Laurinburg has a City form of government with Mayor and town Council and City Recreation Commission. A complete new white way along the Main Street business section was finished in December 1948 and the entire electrical system is operated by the town. A county-wide produce market, a project of the town and the Laurinburg Merchants Association, was opened summer of 1948 and is a year round trading center for farmers in this area.

Laurinburg is served by one bank—The State Bank and its Roper Street Branch—and a new four story building on the corner of Main and Cronley Sts. was completed and opened for business in May, 1951.

The Laurinburg Chamber of Commerce, combined with the Merchants Association, works constantly to further the town's growth and progress.

No history of the town of Laurinburg would be complete with the mention of the Legion Park, first rate stadium completed in 1948 by the Scotland Post No. 50 of the American Legion and the scene of all community activity. They have recently built a new modern brick home in the Park, in which their regular meetings, dinners etc. are held.

Laurinburg has a full scale summer recreation program for white and colored children with first rate playground facilities. There is the community center, a former USO building, that is the center of community activities. There are three theatres within the town limits, and others in the county. One hotel and numerous tourist homes, courts and the lovely new Pin Acres Hotel and Tourist Court and Restaurant just south of Laurinburg on Highway 15 take care of the needs of the transient population.

Laurinburg has been called the "City of Beautiful Homes." New residential areas are growing rapidly with beautiful homes of all modern types. Large oak trees with branches overlapping above the streets welcome the guests to "A Good Country for Good People."

The second largest town in the county is Gibson, located eight miles south of Laurinburg, the town limits and the North Carolina state line being identical. Gibson is a very old community, the Pate family having settled here in 1769 on land received by royal grant from George III. The descendants of this family have continued to live here and are today contributing much to the industrial progress and social betterment of the town of Gibson and the county. The Gibsons compose the largest single group in this community. The ancestry of this family is of Scotch and English origin, the original family emigrating from Scotland and settling in Virginia in 1846. Lack of railroad facilities kept the town from growing rapidly, and it was not until the latter part of the nineteenth century that adequate railroads were built.

In addition to the staple crops the county produces large crops of vegetables, including the famous Scotland County watermelons and cantaloupes. Vegetable crops that are grown commercially are Sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes, tomatoes, which are usually marketed in late June and early July, and broccoli. Late crops of tomatoes are usually processed at a large commercial canning plant at Johns (Scotland County).

The tenant system of farming prevails with large farms tended by colored tenants or share croppers and 50 percent or better of the population is colored.

Melons and Cantaloupes

The history of the cantaloupe and watermelon industry in Scotland County is interesting. Cantaloupes have been grown on a large scale for about 40 years. From the first the crop proved to be profitable and the quality of the loupes most excellent. Quality is affected largely by weather condition, but with a reasonable break from the weather man, Scotland County cantaloupes compare favorably with the best that come from producing areas in the United States.

Formerly cantaloupes were shipped almost exclusively by railway freight in refrigerator cars. Now most of them go to market by motor transportation. Growers get their planting seed usually from Colorado and do not try to produce them locally. For many years seed were grown for them under special contract in Colorado, and the growers would send a man there to supervise the harvesting and curing the seeds.

The story of the watermelons is not unlike the cantaloupes. It goes back 40 years or more. Someone planted melons on a large scale, they produced well and sold well. Next year others planted melons and they soon became an important money crop. As high as a thousand carloads have been shipped from this area in a season. Sometimes the growers make money and sometimes they don't but they keep on planting melons. A good hay crop follows the melons and loupes, and Scotland County farmers have been producing hay in excess of their own needs for a number of years.

An exclusive in vegetable crops here is broccoli, which is grown and shipped on a sizable scale every year. And radishes are grown on some farms each season, as well as small crops of peppers, cucumbers and other crops that are marketed commercially.

Peaches and dewberries are also grown and shipped in large quantities from Scotland County.

Industry

The romantic story of the beginning of the textile industry in Scotland County (then Richmond County) is graphically told by Mr. Ralph Morrison of Laurel Hill N. C. Mr. Morrison has a wealth of information about the early history of Laurel Hill and Richmond Mills communities. The following is a reprint of a speech Mr. Morrison made before the Laurinburg Rotary Club, March 18, 1949.

Mr. Morrison told of the first dam and power plant at Richmond Hill, now the site of one of the Morgan Hill plants. Here Capt. Charles Malloy began operations at an early period, and after the Civil War started a small cotton factory. Here Mr. Morrison's father, Murdock Morrison, operated a gun factory, and for nearly five years of the Civil War manufactured guns for the Southern Confederacy. He had a contract for 25 guns a week, of the old musket type which the Confederates used in that conflict. Mostly the guns had to be built by hand, with only limited shop equipment and tools. Slave labor was used in the work, and Mr. Morrison says that there was one colored man in the plant who was such a skilled workman that he built and supervised the making of all the gun stocks, which were fashioned and drawn from walnut and maple timbers. His father took as his responsibility the final inspection of the guns and setting of the sights.

When Sherman's troops came this way in March 1865, they destroyed the gun plant at Richmond Mill and took all the personal possessions of the Morrison household.

Incidentally, Mr. Morrison told about the digging of a canal at the Richmond Mill by slaves which led from the big pond to the little pond in those days.

Mill Machinery From Shipwreck

The little cotton mill which Captain Charles Malloy first built at Richmond Mill about 1867, or later, was equipped with machinery that was found in a shipwreck off the North Carolina coast during the Civil War, and it came from England. It fell into the hands of Captain Malloy, who, Mr. Morrison says he has been told, had an uncollected bill against the old Wilmington-Charlotte-Rutherford railroad for grading which he did between Laurinburg and Laurel Hill. The railroad got the machinery and turned it over to Captain Malloy in payment of the account.

It was rather simple machinery and the production was not too big or successful at first. About 1872 the late Mark Morgan, who was an experienced mill man, joined Captain Malloy in the operation of the Richman Cotton Mill. The thread was put out in skeins and baled in 5 lb. bundles. This Mr. Morgan and a trained corp of salesmen sold about the country from house to house and thus disposed of the output of the mill at that time.

Building on that foundation, Mark Morgan developed the little cotton mill at Richmond into the Morgan

Mills, and built plants at Ida Mills and Springfield on Gum Swamp. All these mills at that time were operated by water power. Thus the villages at Richmond Mill and Springfield grew up around the mills, and the operations have been expanded and continued to the present time. A few years ago the Ida Mill plant was dismantled and the machinery moved away, leaving the original Morgan Mills the plants at Richmond Mill and Springfield, which have been rebuilt, modernized and streamlined for modern day operations.

After the death of Mark Morgan a number of years ago, his grandson, Mr. Edwin Morgan, took over the management and direction of the Morgan Mills and under his administration these enterprises have grown and prospered. Additional plants have been built, or acquired, and the operations expanded and extended to include the manufacture on a large scale of a line of textiles, cotton and rayon fabrics, and household textiles of one kind and another. A large plant has been added at Laurinburg, and the Heritage Weavers at the Old Laurinburg-Maxton Air Base manufactures a line of high quality bedspreads.

Waverly Mills Inc.

The Waverly Mills Inc., and Scotland Mills Inc., operate four large Textile plants at Laurinburg. The first cotton mill here was the Scotland Mill, built in 1899, with the late A. L. James spear heading the movement and serving as first President of the mill.

Others who have been associated with the textile industry here since its earliest beginnings were the late John F. McNair, industrialist and founder of the varied and multiplied interest of the McNair Companies, the late Jas. P. McRae, the late James A. Jones, the late George F. Avinger and others.

The Dickson Cotton Mills, now operated by the Scotland Mills Inc., was built in 1900, and named for the late Dr. Dickson, who practiced medicine here for many years and lived and operated a drug store near the Dickson Mill. The Waverly Mills were built in 1910, and the Prince Mill in 1920. This mill was named for the late Dr. D. M. Prince, of Laurinburg, and the second of the textile industries to be named for physicians who lived and labored here for many years.

In 1929 the four plants and companies were merged into one unit and one corporation, Waverly Mills Inc., and have operated that way since that time.

In 1939 the Scotland Mills Inc., was organized and took over the operations of the Dickson Mill and concentrated its operations in the manufacture of sheetings and bed spreads.

Employment, Payrolls, Raw Cotton Consumption

The importance of the textile industry to Laurinburg and Scotland County is hard to realize. Only in terms of payrolls, employment, the value of the finished products, and the consumption of raw cotton can we understand the reach of these operations as they vitally affect the livelihood of some 2,400 employees, and the life of the community where textile mill payrolls pour thousands of dollars into the economic bloodstream every week.

Four Corporation that own and control the textile plants, Waverly Mills Inc., Scotland Mills Inc., Morgan Mills, Inc., and Heritage Weavers, normally give employment to about 2400 people, with an annual payroll of about $5,000,000. They consume 60,000 bales of cotton annually and three and a half million pounds of rayon yarns. The value of the products manufactured by these plants is roughly 23 million dollars a year.

The products cover such lines as dish cloths, pot holders, dish towels, cotton and rayon tire fabrics, grey and dyed yarns, hobnail bed spreads, wide sheetings, airplane fabrics, and fringes, as well as carpet yarns, insulating and plush yarns and knit tubing. The two men who direct and guide the policies of these several mills are Mr. Edwin Morgan, President and chief executive of Morgan Mills, and Mr. Helbert McN. Jones, President and Manager of the Waverly Mills Inc. The products of these mills are sold in the largest stores of the country, and nationally advertised in all the leading magazines of the country.

Inventions and Improvements

The James Lytch Cotton Planter, one of the first successful planters to be used extensively and for many years, or until supplanted by more modern dry-seed droppers and planters, was invented and manufactured by Mr. James Lytch of Laurinburg, N. C.

The John Blue Farming Implements that have gained national recognition—particularly the Rex Distributor still regarded by many farmers as the best, most accurate one-horse distributor was also invented and manufactured by Mr. John Blue of Laurinburg, N. C.

A Hester Cotton Stock plow was invented and patented by a man of that name who lived at Johns, N. C., was a light, easy running plow used throughout this section in the early 29s.

Points of Interest

During the Revolutionary War a skirmish between Loyalists and Patriots was fought at the old Gilchrist Bridge, then known as Beatty's Ford, on the Wire Road, near Wagram on the Lumber River.

Old Stewartsville Cemetery between Laurinburg and Johns on U.S. Highway 501 is one of the oldest Scotch burying grounds in this area. It is said to have been selected as a site when a burying party from the lowlands, seeking a high and dry resting place for the deceased, dug a grave on a sandy spot. Honorable James Stewart and many McLaurins are buried there. The Scotch thistle adorns many headstones. Rev. Colin Lindsay, who was born in Scotland and came to America in 1792, and shortly thereafter settled in this region, is buried there. He was born, according to local tradition, several years after his Mother's death. As the story goes, his mother died, apparently in a cataleptic trance, and was interred in the family vault in Scotland. Later that evening grave robbers, seeking valuables, opened the grave and fled when she showed signs of life. She regained her full health and several years later became the mother of Colin.

On the Old Wire Road near Highway 15, four miles north of Laurinburg, is Laurel Hill Presbyterian Church, the oldest church in the county, organized about 1807. One of Sherman's buglers carved his name on the belfry 1865. Duncan McFarland, Congressman 1805-07, is buried in the churchyard.

Mummy of Ferrenzie Concepio is at the McDougald Funeral Home in Laurinburg. He was an itinerant musician murdered by another member of a traveling carnival in 1909. Undertaker embalmed the body, but waited in vain for someone to claim it. It is in perfect state of preservation.

Grave of John Charles McNeill, 1874-1907, who was Poet Laureate of North Carolina, died in 1907 and was buried in the Cemetery of Old Spring Hill Church about one mile from Wagram, N. C.

Near the Spring Hill Cemetery is a small brick hexagon house which in the 1850s and 60s, was the meeting place of the Richmond County Temperance and Literary Society. On the hip roof of the building is a wooden goblet turned upside down. The Minute book of the Society, which has been reserved, provides interesting reading.

Other interesting points and places are: Sanhills while peach orchards are in bloom. Johns, Laurinburg, Gibson and Wagram at cantaloupe and melon marketing periods. The Riverton Community and bathing beach on Lumber River near Wagram, and McNair Yield Tester Seed Farms.

IN ADDITION to names and addresses, your City Directory contains much detailed information concerning the people of your community. In order to list this information certain symbols and designations have been developed which enable important statistics to be compressed into the smallest possible space. You will receive far greater benefits from your City Directory if you familiarize yourself with the symbols and what they stand for.

In checking credit applications, in conducting direct mail advertising programs, in planning sales campaigns, in building prospect lines, and in scores of other ways your City Directory will prove of invaluable assistance.

When You Want to Know:

- where a person lives.
- what his occupation is.
- who lives at a certain number on a street.
- where a street is located.
- the correct spelling of a name.
- the officers of a corporation.
- the partners in a firm.

In fact, the solution to any of scores of problems that pop up unexpectedly to annoy and baffle you.

--you can quickly find the answer in the City Directory.

This Publication Is The Product of a Member of

—thus assuring you the ultimate service that skill and care can produce in the way of City Directories or other reference media, and providing protection against fraudulent advertising schemes which operate under the name of Directories.

The following "Standards of Practice," adopted at the inception of the Association of North American Directory Publishers in 1898, and strictly adhered to over the years, is your guarantee of satisfactory Directory Service.

The publisher of a Directory should dedicate his best efforts to the cause of business uplift and social service, and to this end pledges himself:

1. To consider, first, the interest of the user of the book.

2. To subscribe to and work for truth, honesty and accuracy in all departments.

3. To avoid confusing duplication of listings, endeavoring to classify every concern under the one heading that best describes it, and to treat additional listings as advertising, to be charged for at regular rates.

4. To increase public knowledge of what Directories contain; to study public needs and make Directories to supply them, to revise and standardize methods and classifications, so that what is wanted may be most easily found, and the Directory be made to serve its fullest use as a business and social reference book and director of buyer and seller.

5. To decline any advertisement which has a tendency to mislead or which does not conform to business integrity.

6. To solicit subscriptions and advertising solely upon the merits of the publications.

7. To avoid misrepresentation by statement or inference regarding circulation, placing the test of reference publicity upon its accessibility to seeker, rather than on the number of copies sold.

8. To co-operate with approved organization and individual engaged in creative advertising work.

9. To avoid unfair competition.

10. To determine what is the highest and largest function of Directories in public service, and then to strive in every legitimate way to promote that function.

$100 Reward will be paid by the Association of North American Directory Publishers for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons engaged in the publishing, collecting or canvassing for any fraudulent or fake directories.

Association of North American Directory Publishers

60 East 56th Street

New York 22, N. Y.

A STATEMENT OF ADVERTISING PRINCIPLES

1. Good Advertising — aims to inform the consumer and help him to buy more intelligently.
2. Good Advertising — tells the truth, avoiding misstatement of facts as well as possible deception through implication or omission. It makes no claims which cannot be met in full and without further qualification. It uses only testimonials of competent witnesses.
3. Good Advertising — conforms to the generally accepted standards of good taste. It seeks public acceptance on the basis of the merits of the product or service advertised rather than by the disparagement of competing goods. It tries to avoid practices that are offensive or annoying.
4. Good Advertising — recognizes both its economic responsibility to help reduce distribution costs and its social responsibility in serving the public interest.

Advertising Federation of America

It is customary to include
the City Directory because:

It gives business firms the opportunity to elaborate upon a description of their products and services impossible in the limited space of regular Alphabetical and Classified listings.

HILL'S LAURINBURG

Directory of Householders, Occupants of Office Buildings and Other Business Places, Including a Complete Street and Avenue Guide

1959

Including East Laurinburg

Copyright, 1958, by Hill Directory Co., Inc

In the following list the numbered streets are arranged in numerical order followed by the named streets in alphabetical order, the intersecting streets being shown. The number of each building on the street is given in numerical order, and opposite the number is placed the name of the occupants or houseowner or tenant. In the business blocks containing offices the occupants are shown by room numbers where practicable, in apartment homes the number denotes the number of the apartment. In all streets both sides of the street are included in one list. The profession or business of individuals or firms is given only at their respective place of business; to find occupation of others refer to Alphabetical List of Names.

The symbol © following a householder's name indicates that we have received information during the canvass that the house is owned by some member of the family, but as the publisher cannot and does not guarantee the correctness of the information furnished, nor the complete absence of mistakes no responsibility for errors can be or is assumed, nor can the publisher furnish further information than that shown.

Telephone numbers, as supplied to us on our canvass are shown opposite names.

Figures in parenthesis denote old numbers.

(The numerals that appear at right edge of columns, ahead of street descriptions and some street intersections, are merely for the guidance of the publishers, and have no other significance.)

(This section includes some listings reading "No Return." In each case the Publishers tried diligently, by various means, to obtain the information for the occupants but were unsuccessful. First, two personal calls were made by an enumerator; next, a double postal card was mailed and the telephone used when possible.)

This Publication Is The Product of a Member of

—thus assuring you the ultimate service that skill and care can produce in the way of City Directories or other reference media, and providing protection against fraudulent advertising schemes which operate under the name of Directories.

The following "Standards of Practice," adopted at the inception of the Association of North American Directory Publishers in 1898, and strictly adhered to over the years, is your guarantee of satisfactory Directory Service.

The publisher of a Directory should dedicate his best efforts to the cause of business uplift and social service, and to this end pledges himself:

1. To consider, first, the interest of the user of the book.
2. To subscribe to and work for truth, honesty and accuracy in all departments.
3. To avoid confusing duplication of listings, endeavoring to classify every concern under the one heading that best describes it, and to treat additional listings as advertising, to be charged for at regular rates.
4. To increase public knowledge of what Directories contain; to study public needs and make Directories to supply them; to revise and standardize methods and classifications, so that what is wanted may be most easily found, and the Directory be made to serve its fullest use as a business and social reference book and director of buyer and seller.

5. To decline any advertisement which has a tendency to mislead or which does not conform to business integrity.

6. To solicit subscriptions and advertising solely upon the merits of the publications.

7. To avoid misrepresentation by statement or inference regarding circulation, placing the test of reference publicity upon its accessibility to seekers, rather than on the number of copies sold.

8. To co-operate with approved organization and individuals engaged in creative advertising work.

9. To avoid unfair competition.

10. To determine what is the highest and largest function of Directories in public service, and then to strive in every legitimate way to promote that function.

$100 Reward will be paid by the Association of North American Directory Publishers for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons engaged in the publishing, collecting or canvassing for any fraudulent or fake directories.

IN ADDITION to names and addresses, your City Directory contains much detailed information concerning the people of your community. In order to list this information certain symbols and designations have been developed which enable important statistics to be compressed into the smallest possible space. You will receive far greater benefits from your City Directory if you familiarize yourself with the symbols and what they stand for.

In checking credit applications, in conducting direct mail advertising programs, in planning sales campaigns, in building prospect lines, and in scores of other ways your City Directory will prove of invaluable assistance.
